1. The shipyard at Komarno is of modern construction and is equipped with a machine shop, foundry and forge. The entrance to the harbor is approximately 25 meters wide and 500 meters long. A two-story building near the bridge houses the customs office and police station.
2. In the harbor area there is a Soviet-requisitioned shipyard of modern construction and equipment, employing approximately 1,000 workmen and capable of building vessels of up to 3,000 tons.
3. Principal installations in the shipyard are:
 - a. Machine shop equipped with lathes, drilling and grinding machines.
 - b. Smithy, with two forges and a steam hammer. The foundry is housed in the same building.
 - c. Administration building comprising drawing offices, control of stores and accounts.
 - d. Joiners' shop (three large and four small circular saws) and upholstery works (four sewing machines and two drilling machines).
